

For eye problems

look no further than your optometrist

If you have any problem with your eyes, visit your local optometrist.

All high street opticians have an optometrist who provides NHS service.

Out-of-hours, NHS24 can be contacted for both adults and children on 111.

If you or your child have an eye injury that requires immediate emergency treatment, go to the nearest Accident and Emergency Department.

All children under one should attend the Royal Hospital for Sick Children.
